this book of matrices with black boys as the main character is designed to help gifted and talented education teachers leverage black boys identities to inform and shape how they plan and deliver curriculum and instruction and manage the multicultural democratic and culturally responsive classroom ford and colleagues 2005 spoke to the notion of and need for self reflective instruction we argue that all teachers must want to and learn how to legitimize the everyday experiences that are learned and cultivated in the homes and communities of black boys and how these experiences shape their self identities and contribute to agency wright counsell tate 2015 we therefore advocate for the rethinking of literacies by repositioning white centered texts that often reflect and represent power and privilege toward centering the brilliance of black identities of black children in general black boys in particular black boys of all ages want to and need to physically see positive images of themselves in books reflected at them this representation we argue has the potential to become an example of a compelling counter narrative to the history of the all white world larrick 1965 of children s books that only presented black characters as objects of ridicule and generally inferior beings sims bishop 2012 p 6 when black boys see themselves portrayed visually textually and realistically in children s books vital messages of recognition value affirmation and validation are conveyed recognition of the sociocultural contexts in which they live is celebrated books for and about black boys must be rigorous authentic multicultural and developmentally appropriate to allow them to synthesize what they have read heard and seen during literacy instruction in authentic and meaningful ways multicultural books must introduce children to information about the values of justice fairness and equity developmentally appropriate books should vary with and adapt to the age experience and interests of gifted and talented black boys to allow them the opportunity to demonstrate critical thinking textual analysis skills and convey conceptual knowledge these stories must expose black boys to culturally relevant counter stories stories that counteract the dominant discourse that has primarily depicted black boys as at risk versus placed at risk without hope versus hopeful or out of control and dangerous tatum 2005 p 28 versus developing self control like all other children wright et al 2018
